

Carr is centre stage for another taxing issue

JIMMY Carr is doing penance. The comedian caught up in the K2 tax avoidance scandal was out last night at the Regent's Park Open Air Theatre entertaining the audience for the Hoping Foundation, a charity set up to support Palestinians. The evening also included performances from Primal Scream and Canadian rocker Bryan Adams. Among the guests were Jemima Khan, pictured right with the charity's co-founder, Bella Freud.

DAVE BENETT